School Enrollment Is Stable But School Lunch Rises 5c

by Elaine Skolnik

The school bells will ring in the new school year on Tuesday, September 7 for pupils in grades 1 through 12, and on Wednesday, September 8 for kindergartners. No rise in enrollment is anticipated in public schools attended by Greenbelt students except in Greenbelt Junior High. There some 100 students, slated originally for overcrowded Beltsville Junior High, will be in attendance until the new Martin Luther King Junior High School opens in September 1972. County-wide, an enrollment of approximately 166,000 is expected, an increase of 6,000 over the 1970-71 enrollment.

On the opening day of school and thereafter, first graders will attend a full session of school.

Cafeterias will serve lunches on the first day of school. In spite of efforts by the School Board and Staff to hold the line, students will pay five cents more for a hot lunch this year. Elementary school lunches will cost 45 cents and lunch in secondary schools will cost 50 cents. Milk bought separately will cost 4 cents.

North End

Principal Helene Poland announced that hours for the school year will remain the same - 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Morning kindergarten hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., and afternoon kindergartners will attend from 12:30 to 3 p.m.

GHI Board Discusses Leases And Painting Regulations

by Sid Kastner

The regular Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board meeting last Thursday was taken up to a great extent with a committee report on home painting regulations; the discussion showed how difficult it is to strike a balance between corporation efficiency and individual expression. A few other things such as a member petition were taken up, and also it was announced that two open hearings will be held especially for GHI members on Sept. 9 and Sept. 22, the first one dealing with the projected engineering and architectural survey, and the second on the topic of management audit.

A member petition originating in the townhouses supported the request of one owner to allow a third, unrelated person to occupy his home. In the following discussion this matter was coupled with another issue, whether to cut off the lease of another member who has been allowing three people to live at his home in violation of GHI's leasing conditions. There are apparently no clear guidelines or precedents, according to GHI manager Roy Breashears and director David Lange; though GHI director Janet James interpreted the handbook to say that renting was actually not allowed. The townhouse request was granted, however, though the other member's lease permission was withdrawn; the result of this latter decision was not clear even to the board itself - i.e. how long to allow the lease to continue. Director James had to introduce a special motion to clarify this point.

Painting Regulations

A proposed set of painting regulations was submitted by Joseph Vella of the Community Aesthetics committee. The regulations consist of eight paragraphs which the board considered separately. As Vella explained it generally, two color schedules A and B will be set up; A would consist of combinations of the present approved GHI colors, and B would consist of new optional colors. Each GHI unit could be painted in any approved combination of the colors of Schedule A, or of Schedule B. Thus the individual member would be allowed a wider latitude. Some caution against this much freedom of choice was voiced by Mark Rudy and manager Roy Breashears felt that the trim paint, at least should be the same for a whole row for reasons of economy. Some other paragraphs dealing with furnishing of paint by the corporation, conditions under which the member is responsible for painting his unit, etc., were reworded to clarify the extent of the corporation's responsibility, and were then passed by the board in the amended form. However the third paragraph, dealing with the way in which members would be allowed to select wall and trim colors, had to be rewritten on the spot and was still not satisfactory so that a motion by GHI Director Donald Volk was passed to send it back.

Townhouse Differences

Member Gordon Allen gave this reporter a copy of a letter he recently received from Arthur Kornblut of the American Institute of Architects; the letter reiterates that the architect's contract has to be properly redrafted in order to have the owner's (GHI's) interests protected, and says that "the substitution of the word 'Owner' for 'Architect' in the contract is not enough. Thus a difference of opinion still exists on this point, which was brought up by Allen some weeks ago in connection with the townhouse construction.

A preliminary recommendation on staff salaries was presented by director Stephen Polaschik for the Personnel committee. Because GHI lags about one year behind the present Federal pay schedule, the committee proposes that both administration salaries and maintenance staff wages be raised 6%, to be effective on July 1, 1972. Also the manager, who has been working for the corporation for 18 years without a formal contract, would be provided with such a document.

Directors Norman Weyel and James reported that improper cutting of trees, and oil draining from cars have been occurring on GHI property. The tree cutting has apparently been due to ignorance on the part of the people involved; the oil spillage will be investigated by the staff when it is again observed.

Reply to Mr. White

To the Editor:

I cannot help but reply to Thomas White's letter: "$50,000 Yoke." It is grossly misleading.

Mr. White should know that Council's Greenbriar action did nothing to change the Master Plan. The parcels were already zoned R-30 for apartment development. Even had we tried to stave off the Greenbriar development in the hopes that the County might downzone these parcels on the Plan, it would not have changed things because the developer had already legally established his intent to develop at R-30. It was not a master plan exception being considered.

Mr. White also should know that the agreement went through at least three major revisions, all initiated by the city solicitor; that the agreement was not approved until the council meeting on the evening of August 9 and, therefore, copies could not have been made available until the morning of the 10th; and, although Mr. White was not present at the council meeting on the 10th where he found "it was interesting to note" that copies of the agreement were not alike, all he had to do was ask to find out that all official, final copies were exactly alike, but, because there were not enough copies available, Mr. Pilski and I loaned copies of earlier drafts to two persons, explaining where they differed.

Mr. White also should know that the city exacted a great deal more from the developer than the price of 5 acres of land (in addition to $43,000 to be given in lieu of mandatory dedication). Under charter there are no conditional exceptions made to the so-called bedroom ordinance. By getting the developer to agree to enter into the record, of the county council hearing, his acceptance of the conditions imposed by city council, these conditions will have the force of law. They include limitations and assurances on all of the things Mr. White said we ignored, except parking. That became specious, however. With acceptance of the condition that dens and family rooms cannot be used as bedrooms, the development plan actually provided for more parking spaces than legally required.

Lastly, Mr. White should know that there is nothing in the agreement that prevents council from taking any action whatsoever in relation to other matters concerning Greenbriar. Some Yoke!

Council did nothing "unwittingly" in this matter, but acted deliberately, after many hours of careful thought and study, in what it felt was for the best interests of Greenbelt. Because it is a matter of judgement, however, Mr. White has every right to disagree—loudly and longly. But why resort to all the distortions?

Bob McGee
City Councilman

REMINDER

This is to remind readers of News Review policy with respect to the printing of campaign and election material. The newspaper will not publish in its last edition preceding an election letters to the editor and similar materials that inject for the first time highly controversial issues and charges. Last-minute introduction of such material without an opportunity for refutation is considered an unfair campaign practice.

Letters to the editor and other copy on election issues must be submitted by 9:30 p.m., Tuesday night, so as to give the News Review editorial board sufficient time to review content.

Greenbelt Shell Wins, Aims for U.S. Crown

Last Sunday, Greenbelt Shell won the Amateur Softball Association of America Region 7 championship in an exciting 'if' game at Cabin John Regional Park. In the third game of the winner's bracket, Shell lost to Long's Fence. Shell rallied in a do or die effort to beat Long's 20-12 to capture the illusive District of Columbia, Maryland State crown. As has been reported before, Greenbelt Shell had previously tied for first place in the Greenbelt 'AA' League and proceeded to the Prince George's County Sectional Tournament. After winning that tournament, the team went on to win the District of Columbia Metropolitan Championship.

Greenbelt Shell will leave the City, on the way to play the first game of the National Tournament in Parma, Ohio, Sept. 2 through 6, where they will compete for the Open Slow-Pitch crown. The City of Greenbelt sponsored a send-off ceremony Wednesday evening at the Recreation Center, where the Mayor presented a proclamation and County dignitaries expressed best wishes.

The team is sponsored by Jim Parsley of Greenbelt Shell and coached by Tony Santini.

Pennies for Parkdale

To the Editor:

Parkdale Senior High School has been invited to send a band to participate in the International Festival of Bands to be held in Vienna, Austria during July of 1972. This is an extremely high honor. The invitation was based on the Superior Rating, playing Grade 6 music, received by the Symphonic Band in the State Music Festival last May. Only 5 bands in the entire State of Maryland were invited to participate in this Festival. We are the only band from the State to accept, so far as we can learn.

Parents and Friends of the Band are busy working on ways and means to raise the $50,000 needed to send the band, made up of 70 students from Symphonic and Concert Bands, on this 3-week tour. The Festival will last one week and the bands will tour Austria, playing concerts in various towns and villages during the other two weeks.

Please contribute if a neighbor knocks on your door, collecting Pennies for Parkdale.

The Band will also have a booth in the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival.

A general fund raising drive is planned for September 13-30.

Ruth M. Dee, Chairman
Fund Raising Committee

Frame Home Survey

To the Editor:

In regard to the upcoming voting for or against a survey of the frame homes at $16,000, to refresh the Board's memory, I shall quote from the GHI brochure, "The frame homes are well-constructed, have hardwood floors throughout, fire resistant walls, and excellent closet and storage space."

Any frame homeowner can testify to that. We don't need outsiders to tell us so. Any deficiencies must be blamed on management and maintenance.

With a payroll close to ½ million dollars, we have a right to expect something of the recipients of our monies. We also have a right to ask how the nearly $2,000,000 in membership payments have been allocated. Why the deficit spending for the last 6 to 7 years? Why the exaggerated figures on members' yearly reports? Figures which can't be found on the balance sheet when Oehmann makes his semi-annual audit. We never had a comprehensive management audit! Don't put the cart before the horse!!

VETO the survey! Our management already knows the answer or should.

Vote YES for comprehensive management audit!

The price of an audit, from reliable sources, is between $10,000 - $16,000, not $25,000 as suggested. Firms that are suggested are Anderson & Company, and Price-Waterhouse from Washington, D.C.

Anyone wishing to read the President's report by Mr. Schwan, May 1970-71, to get a better understanding of the "Master Plan" for the future of the frame homes and GHI, can call on me at 474-7987. Martha Hutzler

BRIDGE CLUB SCHEDULE

The Greenbelt Bridge Club is now in the process of taking a summer vacation. The next duplicate bridge game will be held on Friday, October 8, at 8:30 p.m. in the Co-op Hospitality Room.

Save Your Glass

During the Labor Day Festival the city will have its new glass crusher in operation at the carnival grounds. In addition to the city's machine, arrangements have been made to use the city of Bowie's glass crusher. However, now there is a need for glass bottles to grind up. All residents are urged to save their non-returnable bottles and bring them to the glass crusher demonstration area. For each child who brings six bottles or more there will be a special candy treat supplied by the city. Three large barrels will be stationed at the booth where bottles can be left at any time over the weekend—one for brown, one for green and one for clear glass. Please remove any metal collars or caps from the bottles, as these can not be recycled. Paper labels may be left on since they will burn off when the glass is refined.

Hours of operation for the glass crushers are: 1 - 4 p.m. and 7 - 9 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday and 1 - 5 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 6.

In Greenbelt's Library

For children there will be an Origami Demonstration on Saturday, Sept., 4 at 11 a.m., 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. in the Children's Department.

Art Work from the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival, Applehead Dolls by Mrs. Gunnar Lilja and a Doll Collection by Mrs. Pearl Ellerin will be displayed this month.

MARDI GRAS DANCE FEATURES STARLINERS

Let your hair down! Put on a wig! Dress in costume or wear a mask - but DO COME to the Mardi Gras gala street dance at 9 p.m. Saturday, in the carnival area.

Featured will be the "Starliners", the Bowie Senior High School jazz band. The director and organizer, Lt. Col. Joseph G. Carley, Jr., has developed the band into one of the best in the country. He has been assisted by Messrs. Larry Skinner, U.S. Army Studio Band, and Tim Eyerman, U.S. Air Force Jazz Ensemble.

Organized in 1966, the objective of the original group was to keep alive the "Big Band" jazz sounds of Stan Kenton, Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw and Count Basie. The organization has grown over the past five years to two 22-piece jazz bands in which the ages of the members range from 11 to 17.

Dress as "Mutt and Jeff", Cowboy Joe" or "Sonnie and Cher" - but be there for a real treat of free dancing, fun and entertainment.

SWIM TEAM NEWS

In spite of the rain, the annual Swim Team splash party was held as scheduled but moved into the Youth Center. Coach Dorallen Davis and assistant Mike Lundregan started the event by handing out the medals from the divisional meet, and medals to everyone who swam for the team.

Trophies for scoring high points were awarded to Cindy Davis and George Jones and to runners-up Mariette Vanderzon and Kevin Shaughnessy. In individual age groups, high point awards went to Nicolette Durantine and Randy Oudemans (8 and under), Lynn Labukas and Reggie Smith (9 and 10), Colleen Davis and Glenn Adair (11 and 12), Jeff Douglas and Sue Smith (13 and 14), and Olga Penney and Danny Cassels (15-17).

Tankards were awarded to pool managers Steve Davis and Rick Mest and to coach Davis and Lundregan. Jeff Douglas was awarded the Improvement trophy, Carol Bergeman was awarded the co-operation trophy, and Susan Jones was awarded the trophy for sportsmanship. A special perseverance award was given to Annette Vanderzon, and Mike "Turtle" Jones was awarded a plaque commemorating his last year on the team.

To Claim Lost Bicycles

On Saturday, September 4, between 10 and 12 a.m. all lost and unclaimed bicycles in the possession of the City of Greenbelt will be put on display at the Ridge Road Center. This viewing is only for those individuals who have lost a bicycle and who feel that it might be in the city's possession. To gain entrance to the building, all persons must first fill out a form describing the bike sought. This is a precaution to prevent the release of bicycles to an individual who is not the true owner. If it is impossible for an owner of a lost bike to be present at this showing, Call Mr. Edwards at 474-8000 any weekday between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. to arrange for an inspection at another time.

Summer Vacation Problems

by Stephen Polaschik

"There is nothing to do — I'm bored!"

About this time of the annual school vacation many parents, especially mothers, begin to hear the above plaintive wail. One easy solution to the problem would be to shoo the youngsters out with a remark such as: "Find some friends and go out to play."

However, parents can find that this situation can be an opportunity to help their children discover their unknown talents, or to learn the happiness that can come from helping others. Some examples of such opportunities are:

1. Buying some acrylic paints, paint brushes, and some canvas board, or even masonite, plus a "how-to-paint" book and expressing the need for an original painting to hang in some part of the house (even though it may be the basement).

2. Getting a pair of drumsticks and a small board, plus a drumming instruction book to see whether your youngster may get pleasure out of playing accompaniment to his favorite songs.

3. If there is a guitar, piano, or other instrument lying about, you might arrange for instructions so that a new source of enjoyment might be found in your child's life.

4. If the child is a young lady, encouraging her to sew some school clothes by getting some materials that may be on sale, plus a pattern or two, and helping her with sewing problems, can give her a definite feeling of pride when her first article of clothing is finished.

5. There are many lonely, elderly people in Greenbelt who would enjoy having someone do small erands for them. I'm sure the Golden Age Club or various churches in Greenbelt can put youngsters who want to be of service to others in touch with our senior citizens.

6. Hospitals and nursing homes in the area are always in need of "Candy Strippers" and "Blue Boys" to help with the care of the sick and injured. In this volunteer work, the teenager generally realizes that by voluntarily helping others there is a personal satisfaction that he gains which cannot be found in any other way.

7. Similarly, the recreation department of the city or county might appreciate some volunteer help in assisting with teaching younger children various arts and crafts.

8. Organizing a few friends to help clean up litter around the immediate home neighborhood or in other parts of Greenbelt is also a public-service type of activity that does not require any investment, except some time.

The above are only a few samples of what can be offered as suggestions to help children and young adults gain more meaningful lives. It may take some thought on the parents' part to come up with ideas particularly suited to his children, but seeing even one child happily working on a meaningful project will be more than ample reward for the effort.

RHEA COHEN

City Council Candidate

won the editorial praise of
the GREENBELT NEWS REVIEW

"... for helping to restore Greenbelt's faith in itself, in local home rule, and in the adage 'where there's a will there's a way.' Through her efforts and those of other members of the Save Our Community Committee, the smoldering issue of the location of a three-school complex on parcel 2 was rekindled and successfully reopened for debate. Coming on to the scene as a fresh voice, Mrs. Cohen rejuvenated the forces that since the beginning had opposed the choice of parcel 2 for a senior high school site. As a result of this combined and unified effort, the State Legislature, the Governor, and the county commissioners were persuaded to express their public doubts over the wisdom of the school board's choice."

Employee Leave Provisions Changed in New Ordinance

Approved at council's August 2 meeting were two ordinances and two resolutions.

The first ordinance liberalized the city's annual and sick leave provisions for its employees. City employees will now receive sick and annual leave that is comparable to that provided by the Federal government. Family death leave has been revised so that it would now be leave not chargeable against any other type of leave. Also, as relates to sick leave, any employee may now take up to ten days a year for illnesses in the family. Finally, at the time of an employee's resignation, dismissal or death, the city will make compensation for unused sick leave in excess of thirty days, at the rate of one-quarter day for each day of accumulated sick leave.

The second ordinance authorizes issuance of a $25,000 tax anticipation note, to be used for the temporary financing of the construction of a four cell box culvert on Cherrywood Lane at Indian Creek. (A previous anticipation note of $160,000 was issued in June.) This project, which will provide access to the Springhill Lake industrial tract, is being undertaken as a special assessment improvement, with total costs assessed against the benefiting property owners. The latest cost estimates for the project are about $190,000, compared to the original estimate of $175,000.

Among the factors contributing to the increased costs were (1) the need for washed gravel as a sub-foundation for the culvert ($8,837 extra); (2) a requirement of the State Department of Water Resources for a rip-rap stone protection of the diversion ditch used to channel water around the construction project ($3,082 extra); (3) a SDWR requirement for regrading of dirt fill on site to reduce erosion ($2,086 extra); and (4) the placing of dirt fill on either side of the culvert, which necessitated the removal of foreign matter within the fill, the placing and compacting of it and the transportation and the spreading of the excess fill to the other side of the stream ($18,710 extra).

The first of the two resolutions passed authorized the city manager to reduce swimming pool fees for indigent families and to determine a fee based upon a family's ability to pay. It further establishes a minimum fee of $1 per family and provides that decisions of the city manager may be appealed to the city council for its review and action.

The other resolution authorized the city to accept the low bid of Northeast Ford of $3,194 for the purchase of a four-door sedan for use by the Police Department and other city personnel. Invitations to bid were sent to 28 car dealers, but only three responded, apparently because of low stocks on hand. Because the city did not want to special order a car, the bidding procedures were waived with respect to the usual time requirements and placement of legal ads.

Introduced for first reading to be taken up at the next regular council meeting in September was a "clean lot" ordinance requiring property owners to maintain their property free of litter and to provide for the city to clean up littered property and to assess the cost to the property owner. This is similar to an ordinance that has been enacted by the county.

The city council also directed the city manager to prepare an ordinance providing for a reduction in refuse collection fees for elderly citizens who are now receiving a tax credit because of limited income. At present there are 89 persons in the city of Greenbelt receiving such a tax credit.

Rhea Cohen on T.V.

A rebroadcast of the WETA-TV "Open Air" show on which Rhea Cohen appeared in a panel discussion of the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency's proposal of a regional sewer agency for the entire Potomac River basin will be shown tomorrow, Friday, September 3, at 7 p.m. on Channel 26.

City Notes

Four summer employees conducted a survey on Saturday, August 28 of users of the Lake Park. The survey is part of a series being made by the Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments of patterns of use of area parks and recreation facilities. COG will computerize the data collected and eventually report back its findings to the city.

Kinds of data collected were license numbers and state of origin of cars entering and leaving the parking lot, the number of passengers in each vehicle, and the classification of these people into children and adults. For the purposes of the survey "adult" was defined as old enough to drive a vehicle—or roughly 16 or older, as ascertained by appearance.

Employees stationed at the bridge, the power station, and at Olivewood Ct. entrances to the park also recorded the number of people walking into and out of the park. Here brief interviews were conducted, particularly to find out the place of residence of those using the park.

Although the number of people using the park might vary as between a Saturday and a Sunday, according to COG staff collating the survey, earlier findings have determined that the same kinds of people tend to use a particular park facility. In other words, patterns of use remain constant.

All of a sudden, on Sunday, August 29, a heavy scum of algae was found accumulating on the lake, particularly in the bay and in shallow water on both sides of the peninsula. According to officials of the state Bureau of Natural Resources, such accumulation of algae is common in warm water ponds at this time of the year. It is considered basically healthy. Bureau officials were expected, however, early in the week to check out the phenomenon. City employees were cleaning out as much of the unsightly scum as they could.

State Roads Commission officials have notified City Manager James K. Giese that installation of traffic lights along Greenbelt Rd. has been delayed through failure as yet to get financial commitments from all jurisdictions involved in establishment of the Cherrywood Lane light at Beltway Plaza. Berwyn Heights and Greenbelt, as well as nearby businesses, will share with the state the cost of installation of that light. Since other lights along Greenbelt road are to be synchronized, all are scheduled to be installed at the same time. State officials, however, agreed with Giese that a light at the Greenbelt exit of the Baltimore Washington Parkway is overdue and promised to try to expedite installation there. Several fatalities have occurred at that point.

The Public Works crew claim they will have flashing school zone signs working by the first day of school. Signs are installed, but Pepco must wire them.

City workers also constructed a swale for better drainage in Boxwood. The Parks crew repaired the water line leading to the drinking fountain at the softball diamond in Braden Field.

All departments of the city are involved with the Labor Day Festival weekend. The Public Works crew sets up booths, provides electrical power for booths and concessions, installs and takes down fences, and does daily cleaning up. They will also man the glass smashing machine this year to operate during the Festival. The Police Dept. will have a booth at the Festival. As usual, the Recreation Dept. maintains a full program.

P.G. College Registration

Registration for the Fall 1971 semester at Prince George's Community College will take place September 8-9 in the Novak Field House.

Over 7,000 students are expected to enroll in day and evening classes for a variety of transfer and career curriculums.

County Considering Zoning Adjustments

The first step toward a "revolution" in Prince George's County's zoning process was made by the County Council, August 17.

The local legislative body approved a measure, introduced by Councilman Francois B. Francois, D-At-Large, to give the Council the legal tools to thoroughly review and adjust zoning on a county-wide scale.

The Francois proposal calls for the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission to provide maps of each county planning area showing the existing zoning of each land parcel, current land use, including legal non-conforming uses, and recommendations for future zoning.

The resolution, co-sponsored by Councilman Royal Hart, D-2nd, also request studies of each planning area, indicating the effect of downzoning (lowering the amount of development permitted) on the county tax base and economy.

The Park and Planning Commission was further directed to present a program for developing the required maps and studies to the Council within 60 days.

Earlier in the week, Prince George's County Executive William W. Gullett moved to have a rejected administration bill that would delete, at least temporarily, the R-18 and R-30 zoning classifications revived by the County Council.

The original Gullett bill, forwarded to the legislative body early last month, was turned down July 27 by a 9-0 vote. It would have banned any further rezoning of land to the two categories under which garden-style apartments are developed.

In an August 11 memo to First District Councilman Francis W. White, chairman of the Council's planning and capital improvements committee, Gullett asked White to re-introduce the bill immediately "as an extra weapon in planning our County properly."

"There's really no reason for lack of action on this measure," the Executive said at his August 17 press briefing. "There is an obvious need for it if we're going to get Prince George's County moving economically and ecologically."

The County Executive discounted earlier contentions by some councilmen that his proposed rezoning moratorium was unconstitutional "snob zoning" because it would discriminate against certain economic classes.

Gullett said he opted for deletion of the R-18 category, along with the R-30, after reading an extensive legal review of the situation from County Attorney Walter H. Maloney, Jr. He again stressed his conviction that enough land was already zoned in the two categories and that the County must halt the burgeoning development of the garden-style apartments if it is to effectively control its growth.

"The deletion of the R-18 and R-30 zones does not mean there will not be ample zoning categories for residential building," Gullett said, pointing out that the R-10, R-T and R-H zones will continue on the books. "Furthermore, the R-18 and R-30 zones may be reinstated by legislative act at any time in the future when desired, say a year or two later," the Executive wrote.

The Police Blotter

A breaking and entering which occurred on Plateau Pl. in March was solved when two juveniles were arrested. $875 was recovered. Two other juveniles were charged with larceny in the theft of two stereo tape decks from the 18 court of Ridge Rd. Two juveniles and one adult were charged with larceny in the theft of a minibike stolen from Southway. It was later recovered from a storage area on Crescent Rd. Two Springhill Lake juvenile girls were charged with larceny in the theft of $150 from a SHL apartment. All juveniles are awaiting Juvenile Court action.

The Greenbelt police were involved in apprehending several suspects wanted by the Prince Georges County Police recently. A lookout was placed, and Officer Vogel observed the vehicle on Greenbelt Rd. Three police cars converged on the scene and stopped the car. Two males, one bleeding profusely, were apprehended in addition to two young girls. The county police were seeking these individuals for rape, breaking and entering and abduction in Bowie. The wounded man was taken to the hospital; the others were turned over to the county police.

In the early morning hours Officer Craze saw a black van on Cherrywood Ct. with its doors open. Nearby he noted a man jacking up a car, which he determined did not belong to this person. Also nearby was another car with an open trunk and two men lying on the seats inside. All were arrested and charged with tampering with a motor vehicle and with theft. One man was from Remington, Va., another from Warrenton, Va., and the third from the District of Columbia.

Greenbelt Involved

College Park Landfill Procedures Questioned

by Virginia Beauchamp

More exacting standards for sanitary landfill operations, adopted by the federal government and the state of Maryland in recent years, have prompted an inquiry for the first time in almost two decades into the procedures in use at the College Park landfill site. This inquiry, reported in a featured story by Lawrence Meyer in Monday's Washington Post, deals with a facility also used by the city of Greenbelt under a contract with College Park. Greenbelt refuse trucks merely dump at the site; all maintenance of the landfill is handled by College Park employees.

The Greenbelt contract does, however, specify that a bulldozer owned by this city is to be used by College Park at the landfill until that city has acquired a bulldozer. According to the Post article, College Park is in the process now of seeking bids for the bulldozer. The article, however, fails to mention that in the meantime College Park has the use of another machine.

Apparently acquisition of a second piece of equipment—in addition to a College Park-owned front-end loader—was one of the recommendations received from Fred Grossinger, state public health engineer, who works under Neil Solomon, Maryland Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene. Solomon's office notified College Park on April 5 that its landfill failed to meet state regulations.

Two pieces of equipment are deemed necessary to handle the volume of refuse received daily, both to spread and compact it and also to cover it.

College Park is also working on a second weakness in its operation specified by Solomon—inadequate protection of Beaver Dam Creek and its flood plain. An unsightly pile of dirt and debris in a photograph accompanying Meyer's story is actually the beginning of a dike being constructed to alter drainage run-off from the landfill. Future plans also call for excavation of refuse formerly buried in the Beaver Dam flood plain. Until recently most sanitary landfills in the state were made in floodplain areas. College Park followed the then current practice.

After the arrival of Solomon's letter, College Park engaged an engineering consultant to draw up specifications for altering its maintenance of the landfill. After receiving approval of these plans from officials at the Agricultural Research Center, where the landfill is located, College Park forwarded them to Solomon's office, where they arrived about two months later than a deadline specified by Solomon.

Greenbelt's contract with College Park calls for this city to pay on the basis of volume for refuse dumped at the landfill site. This averages out at about $1,000 a month, according to Assistant City Manager Gary Stenhouse.

U. S. Navy Chuting Stars forming a "Sky Chain". Greenbelters will be able to see them at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Navy Chuting Stars Aerial Demonstration

The team usually performs four separate routines over the intended landing area. The first pass is the maximum track performed by one or two jumpers at an altitude of 10,000 feet. It graphically portrays the ability of a jumper in free fall to move horizontally across the ground. A burning smoke grenade attached to the jumper's boot marks his path during the free fall period.

The second routine demonstrates the ability of a free falling parachutist to greatly increase or decrease his speed at will. Two jumpers depart the aircraft simultaneously. Immediately upon entering the slip stream the "fast fall" man will assume a head down streamlined position and plummet towards the earth at speeds approaching two hundred miles per hour. His partner has meanwhile spread his arms and legs exposing his body area as much as possible to the air stream, thereby slowing his vertical velocity to under 120 miles per hour.

The spiral or "rope trick" is performed by two jumpers who exit the aircraft at 10,000 feet and then maneuver together. One jumper passes a lanyard approximately eight feet long to his teammate. Both jumpers back away, raise one leg and begin a spiral motion emphasized by the trailing smoke. At 2,500 feet the lanyard is released and the jumpers open their chutes.

The finale of the show is the "star burst" and involves four jumpers. The jumpers "hook up" (link arms) after leaving the aircraft and fall together to approximately 6,000 feet. At this altitude the jumpers break away, fire flare guns, and track on opposite courses away from one another. The trailing smoke and bursting flares gives a "bomb burst" effect to the viewers on the ground. The jumpers open their chutes at 2,500 feet.

McDonald Is Confirmed For PG Housing Post

The Prince Georges County Council on August 24 confirmed County Executive William W. Gullett's appointment of Charles T. McDonald as a citizen member of the Prince Georges Housing Authority. McDonald, the former city manager of Greenbelt, is presently board chairman of the Greenbelt Golden Age Club. He also served with the United States Public Housing Authority at the three model federal communities.

Parade Highlights

With Lefty Driesell as Parade Marshal, the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Parade, scheduled for 10 a.m. Sept. 6, promises to be the greatest three-hour extravaganza yet presented.

In addition to such marching bands as the First U.S. Army Band, the U.S. Marine Drum and Bugle Corps, the 324th U.S. Army Band the Marching Platoon and Color Guard of the 3rd Infantry (Old Guard), and ALMAS Motor Corps, the Festival will be invaded by an armed medieval mercenary militia from the University of Maryland.

For the first time in this area, the famous Shire Horses will be pulling the National Beer Wagon in the parade, Uncle Sam, the Krazy Kats, the Prince Georges Firemen Clowns, "Happy" the clown and Ronald McDonald will entertain the crowd with their antics.

Various antique vehicles will follow the parade route, including the National Beer antique truck. Also the University of Maryland is sponsoring an electric-powered bus, which will emphasize the need for clean air.

Retired Police Sergeant Austin Green will be riding a horse as an Indian, Chief Thunderbird.

Talent Contest

Thirteen acts are entered in the Festival talent contest, which will be held Saturday, Sept. 4, and Sunday, Sept. 5, at 7 p.m.

Each night a first and second place winner will be selected by a panel of three judges.

The following youngsters will entertain and compete: Floy Boswell, Andi Jankowski, Diane Burchick, Christie White, Donna Messer and Bonnie Griggs, Sandra Fimiani, Jean Nelson, Kim Robbins, Susan and Gene Kellaher, Tim and David O'Keefe, Joyce Baker, Sandy Belange, Anita Byars, Debbie Centrone, Kathy Williams, Terri Colburn, Pam Dodson, Gail Gray and Debbie Wilcher. The Judges are: Mrs. Marsha Krasnick, Mrs. Eunice Coxon and David Young.

Mrs. Elizabeth Maffay, talent chairman, will not be able to accept additional entries.

Folk Festival

For six continuous hours Saturday evening (September 4) folk, bluegrass, and country-western artists will reign in Greenbelt Park. Highlighted by Miss Elizabeth "Libba" Cotton, traditional blues singer and folk-song writer (Freight Train), eight groups will perform on stage in Sweetgum Picnic Area beginning at 4 p.m. Open to the public free of charge, this open-air concert will feature a variety in styles and performances.

A Potpourri of Drama

The Parkdale Summer Drama Group, under the direction of Tom Spillane, will present two hours of theatre for the public on Sunday, Sept. 5 at 2:30, in the Center School auditorium. Included will be parts from "Under Milkwood", a play for voices by Dylan Thomas, "Plaza Suite" by Neil Simons. Two fairytales, "Henny Penny" and the "Golden Goose", and a monologue called "Paul Klee" will complete the performance.

The group is made up of junior and senior high school students who participated in a combination speech and drama class this summer. Admission is free.

The "Piper and His Pumpers" will play at 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Boys Club Sponsors 'King and his Court'

"You don't have to be a softball fan to like the "King and His Court," according to Eddie Feigner, founder, mentor and star performer of the diamond's awesome foursome.

"Some of our best fans are women who think a strike is something you get when you bowl."

"Our bag is entertainment," says Feigner, "and as long as we can make the fans laugh and cheer, we're happy."

The fun will begin at 2 p.m. on Sept. 6, when the jolly jesters take on the Greenbelt All Stars at Braden Field.

It would be quite a triumph to beat the court, especially when they have chalked up over 4700 victories while suffering less than 10% of their games in defeat. That record has been compiled since 1946, when Feigner—who is internationally famous as the World's Greatest Pitcher—founded this peerless organization.

Labor Day Slow-Pitch

Slow-Pitch Tournament sponsored by the Greenbelt Recreation Dept. began Monday night when Wildwood Manor Esso, from the Montgomery County 'AA' League beat the home town team Springhill Lakers. In the second game, the Fairfax County 'A' League first place winner, Coventry Shoppe, beat Stewart Petroleum, from the Prince Georges County George League. Guest team, White House Realty, from Loudoun County, trounced Deanwood Auto Body, from Prince Georges County Beltway League, in the third game. Triple-header games continue throughout the week and Saturday at 6:45, 8:00 and 9:15 p.m. Five games will be played Sunday starting at 1:00 p.m. and the tournament will continue with triple-headers on the 6th and 7th. The third place team will be determined on the 8th of September at 7:00 p.m. with the winner advancing to the championship on September 9th at 6:45 p.m. All games will be played on Braden Field #2 and are free to the public.

The Piper & His Pumpers

The Piper and His Pumpers, an accordion and clarinet group under the direction of Linda Peluzzo Townsend, Miss Maryland 1966-67, will perform Sunday, September 5th at 3 o'clock on the stage in the Carnival area. The band will be accompanied by baton twirlers, dancers, and novelty acts.

The Piper and His Pumpers recently returned from a two week engagement at the world famous Steel Pier in Atlantic City. The children in the group range in age from 10 to 17 years.

The group, SPEAR, or the Society to Promote Ecological Aquatic Research, which has been newly formed, will have a booth at the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival. A film will be shown at night explaining the functions of the center when built. The National Wildlife Federation has kindly furnished some material on ecology to be distributed to those interested.
